Dear Beatriz:

It was a pleasure to learn from Marta that you have been chosen Director, and that she too is happy with the news. The Instituto will be fortunate in having you to guide its work, and I foresee a happy period for all.

I would have written sooner had it not been for a prolonged winter fever that has laid me low all this month. I'm now out of it and back at work.

Part of it is at the University Museum, where Arthur Miller is editing the volumes of Tikal Reports which are now moving again towards publication.

If you come this way, please consider giving a lecture here, at Yale.

Mary Miller is now on our staff,
and teaching pre-Columbian art very well. We continue to have interesting students.

Betty joins me in cordial greetings, as ever,

George Kubler
